Hi Bri.

Based on the fact that i have received these threats from numorous persons including death threats from private numbers i have gone ahead and lawyered up , i called the LAPD and there is no case pending against me right now and i am fully confident that there is no video footage since i did not take your things or money. I am willing to pay you $30000 with the condition that you stop talking about me and this situation as a whole and that is the only reason for remuneration. I was told by my lawyer to send you this message as the allegations against me are severe and are cause for defamation etc. Please let me know if this is okay. This

That's not how this works. If you don't give me my CASH by today like agreed, then I'll just let the police handle it.

If you're not here, figure it out.

You missed the 3pm deadline today, so I'm giving you one more chance.

The money better start appearing in my account today, or cash dropped off today - even split up the payments if you must, I don't give a single fuck. Or else this is all over because I'm not playing your little games. Hope you look good in an orange jumpsuit

Saturday 21:42

We'll let Bri know your payment is coming on 18 Apr 2022. If they aren't registered with Zelle®, they'll receive an email or text letting them know how to register. We'll send your money after they complete their registration.

$5,000.00

This is the last time I'm going to discuss this with you.
You have until 4 pm tomorrow to have $38k returned to me in cash. I will push my meeting with the detective to 430 pm. If I don't have the money by 4 pm, I will finalize report, and post you all over social media along with your photos and proof.

You will have the full amount by
that time
